SACRED TREASURE OF TREVES

French Cathedral City Claims Possession of Coat Worn by Savior at His Crucifixion.

The ancient archiepiscopal city of Treves, on the Moselle, is remarkable for possessing among its cathedral treasures the coat reputed to be that worn by the Savior at his crucifixion, for which the Roman soldiers cast lots. This coat was the gift of the Empress Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great, the discoverer of many memorials of the founders of Christianity.

In the time of Helena, Treves was the capital of Belgic Gaul, and the home of the later Roman emperors. It is recorded that she converted her palace into the cathedral and endowed it with this treasure—the seamless coat of the Savior.

The coat is a loose garment with wide sleeves, simple in form, of coarse material, dark brown in color, probably the result of age, and entirely without seam or decoration. The coat is said to measure from the extremity of each sleeve five feet five inches, the length of the collar to the lower edge five feet two inches.

In part the holy coat of Treves is tender or threadbare. There are some stains on it. These are reputed to be those of the blood of the Savior. It is reputed to have caused many miracles in the cures of bodily ailments. Its efficacy has never been doubted in Treves.

A Historic Weapon.

Mons, which henceforth is enshrined in British hearts, has long been a household word for Scotsmen. Every boy insists on an excursion to Edinburgh castle to see Mons Meg. For Meg was made in Flanders, and did much havoc at the siege of Scottish castles as well as in wars of adventure into England. Partly of wood and partly of iron, the great gun was put together late in the fifteenth century. Cromwell captured it and listed it as "the great iron murderer, Meg." While firing a salute for the duke of York, in 1682, Meg burst. A century later it was banished from Edinburgh to the Tower of London as a useless gun; but Sir Walter Scott saw romance and patriotism in Mons Meg, and persuaded the war office to send it back to the castle.—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Expect Him To.

Lady—I'm afraid you don't like work, my good man.
Tramp—How kin I, mum? Work's wot killed my pore wife.

Beeswax for Cracks.

Cracks in furniture should be filled in with beeswax. Soften the beeswax until it becomes like putty, then press it firmly into the cracks and smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Sandpaper the surrounding wood, and work some of the dust into the beeswax. This gives a finish to the wood, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared. Putty used in the same way soon dries and falls out.

Twenty bags of Sears-Roebuck catalogues hit Piedmont Monday. This sort of thing used to make us indignant for the merchants. Nowadays it only reminds us of our own wrongs resulting from the fact that there are institutions in Piedmont that send their printing away.—Piedmont Banner.

The time crusher which the county court purchased arrived one day last week and was taken out to Judge Garrett's farm Friday morning. The Farm Adviser and Highway Engineer came over from Farmington Wednesday when the crusher was put into operation. The crusher will be taken to various parts of the county so that it will be convenient for the farmers to secure the lime.—Bismarck Gazette.

A recent wedding of unusual interest was that of James Pirtle and Miss Myrtle Johnson who were married in the presence of the immediate members of the family in the Commercial Hotel parlor last Saturday evening by Rev. ## PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Easy, When You Know How.

According to Mr. Holmes, the St. Joseph Lead Company owns land detected in the act of hugging a lady at $6,000,000 and put upon it an indebtedness of $8,000,000. That's high finance, I suppose and shows how easily wealth may be created if you only know how to go about it.—Iron-ton Register.

Telephone Central Will be Moved.

The management of the Potosi Telephone Co. is making preparations to move the central office from the Kindell home, where it has been located since the system was first installed to new quarters on the second floor of the Settle building. The change will be completed within a week or so. It will require the shifting of many wires. A new switchboard will also be installed.

Flat River Trims Potosi.

In the second game this season between the Potosi and Flat River ball teams, played on the Flat River grounds last Sunday, Potosi lost out after a live and hotly contested game by a score of 4 to 3. The Sunday before, in a game played here by these teams, Potosi won 16 to 5. The home team made the trip to Flat River in automobiles and found the going pretty good.

Old Potosi Hotel Sold Again.

James Bryant, who bought the old Potosi Hotel property last fall, sold it last Saturday to Dr. J. P. Townsend. We understand the consideration was $1200. It is very probable that Dr. Townsend bought this property with the ultimate intention of building a private hospital there, since he has had such a plan in mind for sometime. An institution of this kind would certainly be a benefit to the community.

Contractors on Road Work.

The Mulville Bros., a contracting firm of Alton, Ill., has moved its outfit here and will work on the road improvement in the Potosi special road district. The outfit has some fifty head of stock and the paraphernalia for grading work, and men enough will be brought in to run the job. The plant has been divided into sections, one of which will work on the Jefferson City road and the other on the Cadet road, for the present.

We understand that there has been a little objection to bringing in this outside aid, but the commissioners found that with what local teams and labor they were getting it would take years to carry out the improvement project.

B. B. Cahoon's Son-in-Law Killed in the War.

Captain George E. Alt, formerly of Cape Girardeau and well known here as the son-in-law of B. B. Cahoon was killed in battle in northern France Sunday April 18th.

Captain Alt has lived in this country for about 20 years, though remaining an English subject. He came to the Cape originally to clear up the estate of several thousand acres of land which his father had bought near that city. Soon after his arrival he married Miss Virginia Cahoon, daughter of B. B. Cahoon and they have one son, 17 years old.

They have lived on their estate in Virginia until the European war broke out last summer when he returned to join his company. He recently wrote to Mr. Cahoon of some of his adventures in the trenches and he had had several narrow escapes.—Fredericktown Democrat News.

This should be done at the earliest date possible so that the program can be made up in time to communicate with those who are expected to take part in the exercises.

Each graduate should send his or her full name to the County Superintendent at once, so that it may be properly written in the diploma. Let each graduate make every effort to be present. Parents and those interested in school work are invited to be present. We hope to have a large attendance from every part of the county. On June 4th and 5th the regular teachers examination will be held at the Public School building at Potosi beginning at 8:30 a. m.

A Colorado postmaster who was detected in the act of hugging a lady in the postoffice was reported to the department at Washington and his dismissal requested. A reply was received to the effect that there was no rule of the department which prohibited a postmaster from hugging a woman who wanted to be hugged, so long as she did not interfere with the discharge of his duties. Missouri postmasters will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.—Marble Hills Press.

Showing Us "Show Me" Folks.

The Business Men's League of St. Louis is having prepared a lecture, illustrated with motion pictures and colored views, showing Missouri as she is and as she might be—all her strength, as well as all her weakness. This illustrated lecture on Missouri is for Missourians. It will be just as fine as every Missourian helps to make it.

The lecture, which, by the way, has been named "Health, Wealth and Happiness on the Farm," is to show the people of Missouri how they may draw to themselves a larger measure of health, wealth and happiness by taking advantage of all the things which are close at hand. The pictures and the words of the lecturer will make plain the resources and advantages of Missouri, and the possibilities for producing better crops, better roads, better schools, better homes and better living.

Missouri has nothing to be ashamed of. She is doing well, but she can do better. She can add millions of dollars to her annual income, and in "Health, Wealth and Happiness on the Farm" will be shown how this may be done. The whole state will be put under the microscope, the orchard, the live stock, the roads, the schools, the churches, the homes—everything that goes into the upbuilding of the community.

All this will be compared with the work that is being done in some other states, and from the advantages which Missouri offers and from the contrasts that are shown in the pictures, every citizen, and particularly the farmer citizens, will draw a wealth of inspiration and helpfulness.

The lecture will be presented throughout the state, and if possible every man, woman and child will have a chance to see and hear it.

A I who have pictures or information which they think will be of value and will contribute to the lecture are invited to send their pictures and information to the above organization. Any picture which shows what is being done, or what should be done, will be welcome.

Mr. Seth Simmons let a little mule kick him in the ribs the other day and he was pretty badly hurt, though not seriously so.

Miss Cressie Hobbs spent Wednesday and Thursday last in Potosi. She is at present visiting relatives and friends in the Lead Belt.

We had a fine rain in this locality one day last week and all crops are looking fine, consequently there is much jubilation among the farmers.

Aunt Phoebe Bouse, who had been spending several months visiting her brother Andrew at Shattuck, Okla., has returned home, well pleased with the trip.

On Monday morning a little son of Roy Nicholson got caught in the machinery of a manure spreader and was quite badly hurt. It seemed almost miraculous that he was not instantly killed.

On Tuesday morning while Mr. J. W. Martin was hitching a team of mules to a plow the mules were frightened by some calves running near and ran away. Mr. Martin became tangled in the gear and was dragged some distance. Fortunately he suffered no injuries beyond being bruised up some.

We think the county board of equalization did the right thing in raising the valuation of land for taxation of non-resident owners. There are thousands of acres of good land in this county held by non-residents for speculative purposes, and it might be well to tax them into letting go of it to those who would use the land.

Grandpa Hargus was given a surprise party by kindred and neighbors one day last week in celebration of his 85th birthday. They all had a good time and are looking forward to celebrating his next anniversary in the same manner. ## WELL DESERVED.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Potosi People.

One kidney remedy has known merit.

Potosi people rely upon it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Potosi testimony proves it reliable.

W. O. Williams, Potosi, says: "I had a bad back for several years and any exposure was sure to make it worse. I knew the trouble came from my kidneys, for the kidney secretions were scanty and unnatural. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the City Drug Store, relieved me. I have been feeling good ever since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Scenic Line to the San Francisco Exposition.

If you are going to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, you will surely want to use the railroad that will permit you to see most of the way. Lying between the Mississippi River and the Pacific Coast is a stretch of more than two thousand miles of wonderland. All the magnificent sights of Europe do not compare in natural grandeur with the mountain heights, the canon depths, the crags and cataracts, the forest giants, the sweeps of plain and river vistas which unfold in kaleidoscopic order before the eyes of the traveler between St. Louis and San Francisco, if he uses the Missouri Pacific, Denver &amp; Rio Grande and Western Pacific.

The trip over these lines is absolutely the most picturesque from the Mississippi River to Colorado, across the Rockies and through the Sierra Nevada to the Pacific Coast. This is the route of the Scenic Limited, a fast, all-steel train between St. Louis and San Francisco and the only through train between St. Louis and the Pacific Coast.

Be sure and use The Scenic Limited one way anyway. For complete description of train and trip, call on or write S. B. Allison, local station agent.

Borneo Pirates.

Brunel, Borneo, is one of the strangest cities in the world. Once the headquarters of the Borneo pirates, it is a kind of eastern Venice, being built entirely over the water. This remarkable city is the capital of the state of Brunel, Borneo. All the houses are built over the River Limbang, constructed on slender piles made from the Nibong palm, a wood that resists the action of water for many years. The inhabitants of Brunel are Malays, Kadayans, Orang-Buskits, and a few Muruts. They earn their living mostly by trading with other tribes in the interior of Sarawak and British North Borneo. Some of them are very skillful brass workers, and the Brunel women make beautiful cloth, interwoven and embroidered with gold thread. Sago is grown in the valleys near by, and a small quantity of rice is also raised. In the early part of the nineteenth century Brunel was the rendezvous of the dread Borneo pirates, and a market for the slave trade.—Wide World Magazine.
